THE BUGS
ARE ALL GONE.

The background is a dark, grainy image showing several soldiers in tactical gear. They are wearing helmets with night vision or thermal imaging equipment. The word "BEEP" is written in a stylized, white, blocky font multiple times across the image, suggesting a sound effect or a specific communication. The overall tone is serious and tactical.
